

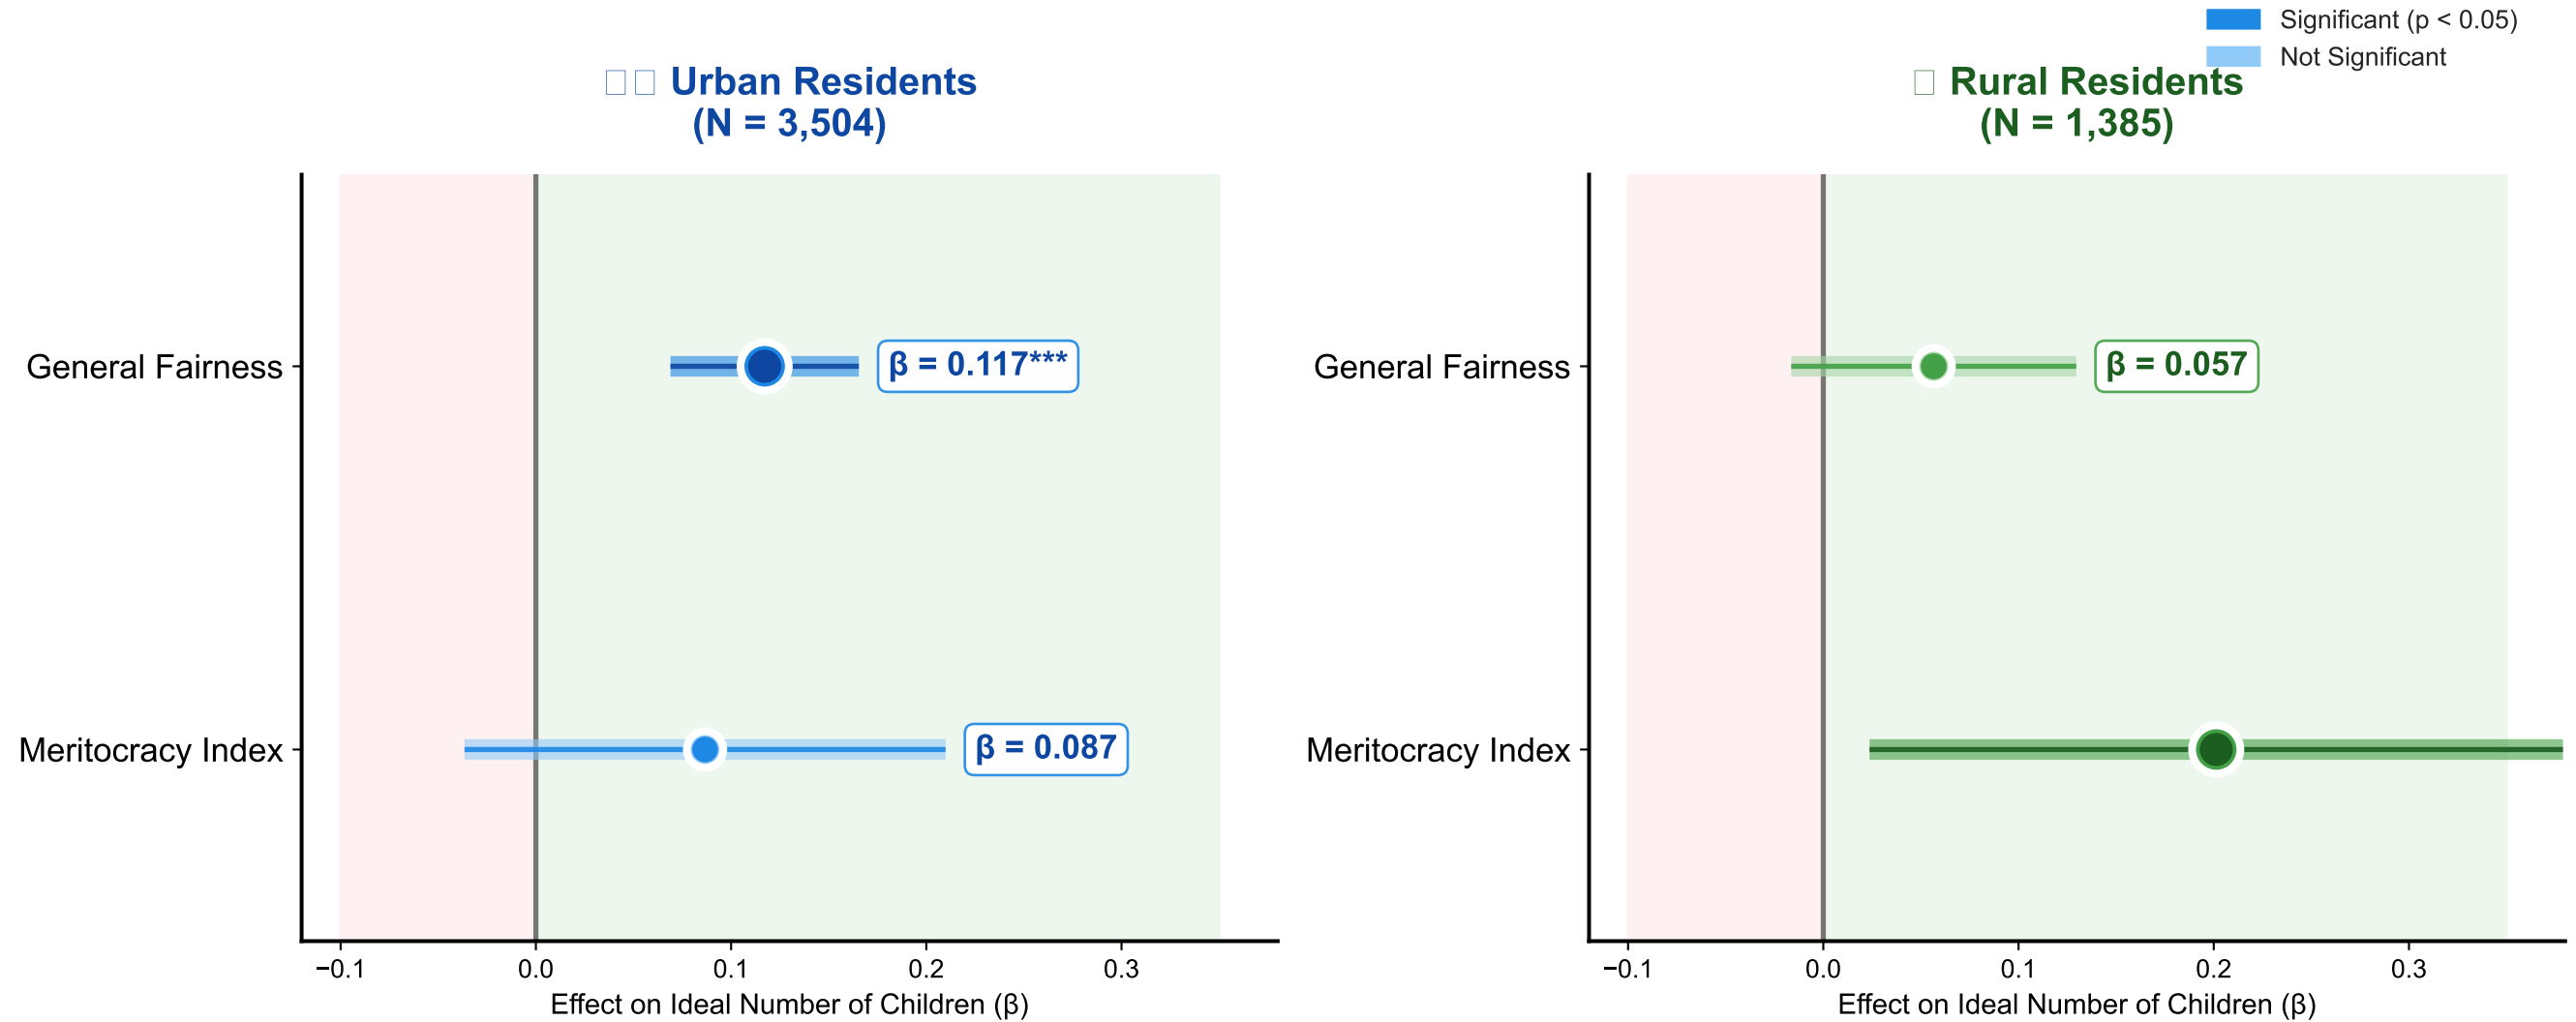

Figure 2: A Tale of Two Pathways
Urban Residents Value General Fairness; Rural Residents Value Meritocracy

□ Key Insight: For rural youth, education remains the "great equalizer" — belief that hard work pays off drives fertility intentions. Urban residents, with structural advantages already secured, respond more to the general social climate.